

I am writing to express my concern over the consolidation of major media resources that is being proposed by the FCC, particularly where any one corporation can own and operate both t.v. and newspaper companies in the same vicinity. I am concerned over the possible lack of diversity and monopolization that can occur when too few voices are available in any given area, certainly not the cornerstone of a true democracy. I fear that these mega companies may limit both the quantity and quality of the news. Thank you for your consideration on this vital topic.
